Haaga-Helia School of Vocational Teacher Education

School of Vocational Teacher Education is part of Haaga-Helia University of Applied Sciences. We educate teachers for all vocational education sectors and higher education. Teacher education, continuing education and RDI span the range of our main activities. www.haaga-helia.fi/en/aokk

Teaching as profession

Mobile technology, student-centered pedagogical methods, versatile learning environments, collaboration between education sector and the society are changing the profession of a teacher. Haaga-Helia's teachers with modern pedagogical skills are in the key position in developing education and learning.

We educate teachers, special needs teachers and guidance counsellors in Finnish-language programs. We also offer teacher education in English. Our teacher students have already degree and work experience in their own field. The program (60 ECT) provides pedagogical qualifications for profession in teaching in Finland. www.haaga-helia.fi/en/vocational-teacher

Finnish education to your needs

We collaborate with educational organizations, universities and the world of work, also internationally. We export teachers' pedagogical education, pedagogical short courses and consultative development activities in vocational education and training and higher education. Our Vocational Teacher Education with a Finnish Touch program: www.haaga-helia.fi/en/vocational-teacher-education-finnish-touch

Our continuing education programs is designed to further develop the competencies of teaching staff and organisations and to come up with new solutions for studying, workplace needs and lifelong learning. In addition, we support educational organisations by providing management teams and employer/industry partners with training and consulting.

Developing vocational pedagogy (RDI)

In research, development and innovation activities, we carry out international cooperation in networks and projects with working life, vocational education organizations as well as universities. Our mission is to be an assembling actor and enhancer of knowledge in pedagogical research, development and innovation. Our focus is for example on the following themes: continuous learning, digital guidance and learning environments, education and working life, special learners learning a vocation, and international vocational pedagogy. www.haaga-helia.fi/en/engaging-vocational-pedagogy
